

Data Sets - Creation and Maintenance.

For Machine Learning to work effectively current solutions require access to a data set that can provide the ML Model with sufficient data to achieve a high probability match to the object being observed.

It has been noted from numerous potential clients that this is an area where not all of source data is available. There are data sets for common items, such as cats, dogs, clouds, etc...but not many specialized data sets are available. Our solution will be to develop and curate these data sets for our clients.
